Success Stories

“In less than one college semester I had exponentially increased my potential for employment with both A+ and Network + certifications. Both of which would not have been possible without the help of the New Horizons teachers, staff, and fellow students. For anyone trying to get into the IT profession, you can’t go wrong with certifications and New Horizons specializes in them.”

- Kyle Horner is currently employed at Northrop Grumman as a Computer Support Technician.

“The moment I set foot in New Horizons, I knew there was something different here. The instructors and staff here are friendly and eager to help. I want to thank all the instructors I’ve had for being so great at what they do. Because of New Horizons I was able to get a job with a great company doing exactly what I like to do!”

Stephanie was recently awarded the CompTIA Merit Award because of her eagerness to learn, hard work in and out of the classroom, and extreme dedication.

- Stephanie Taveras is currently employed at Seaworld as an IT Support Technician.
Success Stories

“I had just separated out of the military and I knew that I needed to get a better education to work in the civilian sector. When New Horizons Orlando contacted me, I knew that it would be a great opportunity to expand my IT knowledge. The instructors I had were phenomenal, they are the best in their fields and all have worked in the IT industry. They were able to put the training into real world situations so I was able to understand the material easier. The labs were a great way for me to learn hands along with the study resources, which were great instruction manuals.”

- Kathleen Edwards is currently employed at Lockheed Martin as a Help Desk Technician.

“Before New Horizons, I did not have much networking experience at all. I decided I wanted to further my education and start a career. The job placement assistance was prompt, professional and effective! Lisa Manzi with Career-Visions was right on top of finding me a job. She helped with my resume and finding me the perfect position. I would definitely recommend New Horizons. Both Faculty and Staff are professional all the time and will always go the extra mile for each student!”

- Delisha Johnson is currently employed at Lincoln Technical Institute as a Network Administrator.
“Training at New Horizons is better than your average classes. The instructors are very knowledgeable with very helpful attitudes towards the students. They don’t just teach book knowledge; they make sure students understand what happens in real world environments. The job placement assistance I from Career Visions was phenomenal. After obtaining my certifications, I was set up with excellent employment opportunities. Thanks to job placement assistance from New Horizons, I am now employed with Cybernet Systems Corporation.”

- Sam is currently employed as a Information Assurance Analyst at Cybernet Systems Corporation.

“Before New Horizons, I was a systems administrator in the Marine Corps for five years. After my enlistment, I started attending Valencia Community College working towards my associates degree but then decided to enroll in New Horizons instead. I liked the fact that New Horizons offers an accelerated track towards IT certification, vs. the slow pace of traditional colleges and universities. The job placement assistance was great! New Horizons has a lot of connections and they provide IT training to a lot of companies and govt./military organizations in Florida.”

- Derek LeMay is currently employed as a Technical Support Engineer at Symantec

“The classes are formatted perfectly to prepare you to pass whatever certification exam you are looking for. The information is provided clearly and logically and the entire school is set up to assist you to pass your exams. New Horizons also helps you move higher in your own company or finding a new one. I am using information and skills I learned at New Horizons today and I know I will continue to use them in the future.”

Luke Nabozny is currently employed as a System Analyst and Information Assurance Manager at Computer Sciences Corporation.

“The instructors have been very helpful and knowledgeable in their subjects. The labs and study materials have been useful for real world application as well as certification prepping. The job placement assistance with Career Visions worked out well for me. I was told about an opening and applied, my resume was forwarded to the manager which got me an interview in which I was hired at Convergys. I would absolutely recommend New Horizons Orlando to anyone who may or may not have much IT experience who may be looking to change careers, increase their knowledge or prepare for certifications.”

What you need to know about Cyber Security

(ISC)² (“ISC-squared”), the world’s largest not-for-profit information security professional body and administrators of the CISSP®, today released the results of its sixth Global Information Security Workforce Study (GISWS) in partnership with Booz Allen Hamilton, conducted by Frost & Sullivan.

“The study of more than 12,000 information security professionals worldwide reveals that the global shortage of information security professionals is having a profound impact on the economy and is driven by a combination of business conditions, executives not fully understanding the need for security, and an inability to locate enough qualified information security professionals.”
The report finds that hactivism (43 percent), cyber-terrorism (44 percent), and hacking (56 percent) are among the top concerns identified by respondents, yet more than half – 56 percent – feel their security organizations are short-staffed. Many organizations (15 percent) are not able to put a timeframe on their ability to recover from an attack, even though service downtime is one of the highest priorities for nearly three-quarters of respondents. The data concludes that the major shortage of skilled cyber security professionals is negatively impacting organizations and their customers, leading to more frequent and costly data breaches.
Now, more than ever before, we’re seeing an economic ripple effect occurring across the globe as a result of the dire shortage of qualified information security professionals we’ve been experiencing in recent years,” said W. Hord Tipton, CISSP-ISSEP, CAP, CISA, executive director of (ISC)². Information security is a stable and growing profession, and careers in security are fruitful – Information security professionals are enjoying stable employment.
